Chat Show - Christopher Hollman
2010, HD Video, Stereo, 16'

Chat Show es una obra de video producida por Christopher Hollman durante su residencia en Homesession, de marzo a junio de 2010. La película explora una respuesta al formato omnipresente del "talk show" televisivo.

Rodada en Barcelona y Nueva York, Chat Show replica el lenguaje familiar de la televisión, forzando un diálogo entre los principales protagonistas del programa: el presentador, el invitado, el público, el productor y el observador.

Gracias a un montaje que recurre al combing (un sistema de yuxtaposición de imágenes en movimiento) a modo de gramática visual y al distanciamiento (Brechtian) de la expresión de un sistema político y de su cultura mediática en su contra), Chat Show crea una conversación con uno de los medios más eficaces y persuasivos de la edad moderna.

Chat Show is a video produced by Christopher Hollman during his residency at Homesession, from March to June 2010. The video generates a response to the ubiquitous television talk show.

Filmed in Barcelona and New York, Chat Show replicates familiar television visual language and forces a dialogue between the central components of the show - the presenter, the guest, the audience, the producer and the observer.

By combing the montage (a system of juxtaposing moving images to create visual grammar) and detachment (Brechtian) expressions of a political system and its media culture against itself), Chat Show creates a conversation with one of the most effective and persuasive media formats of the modern age.

I - Produce

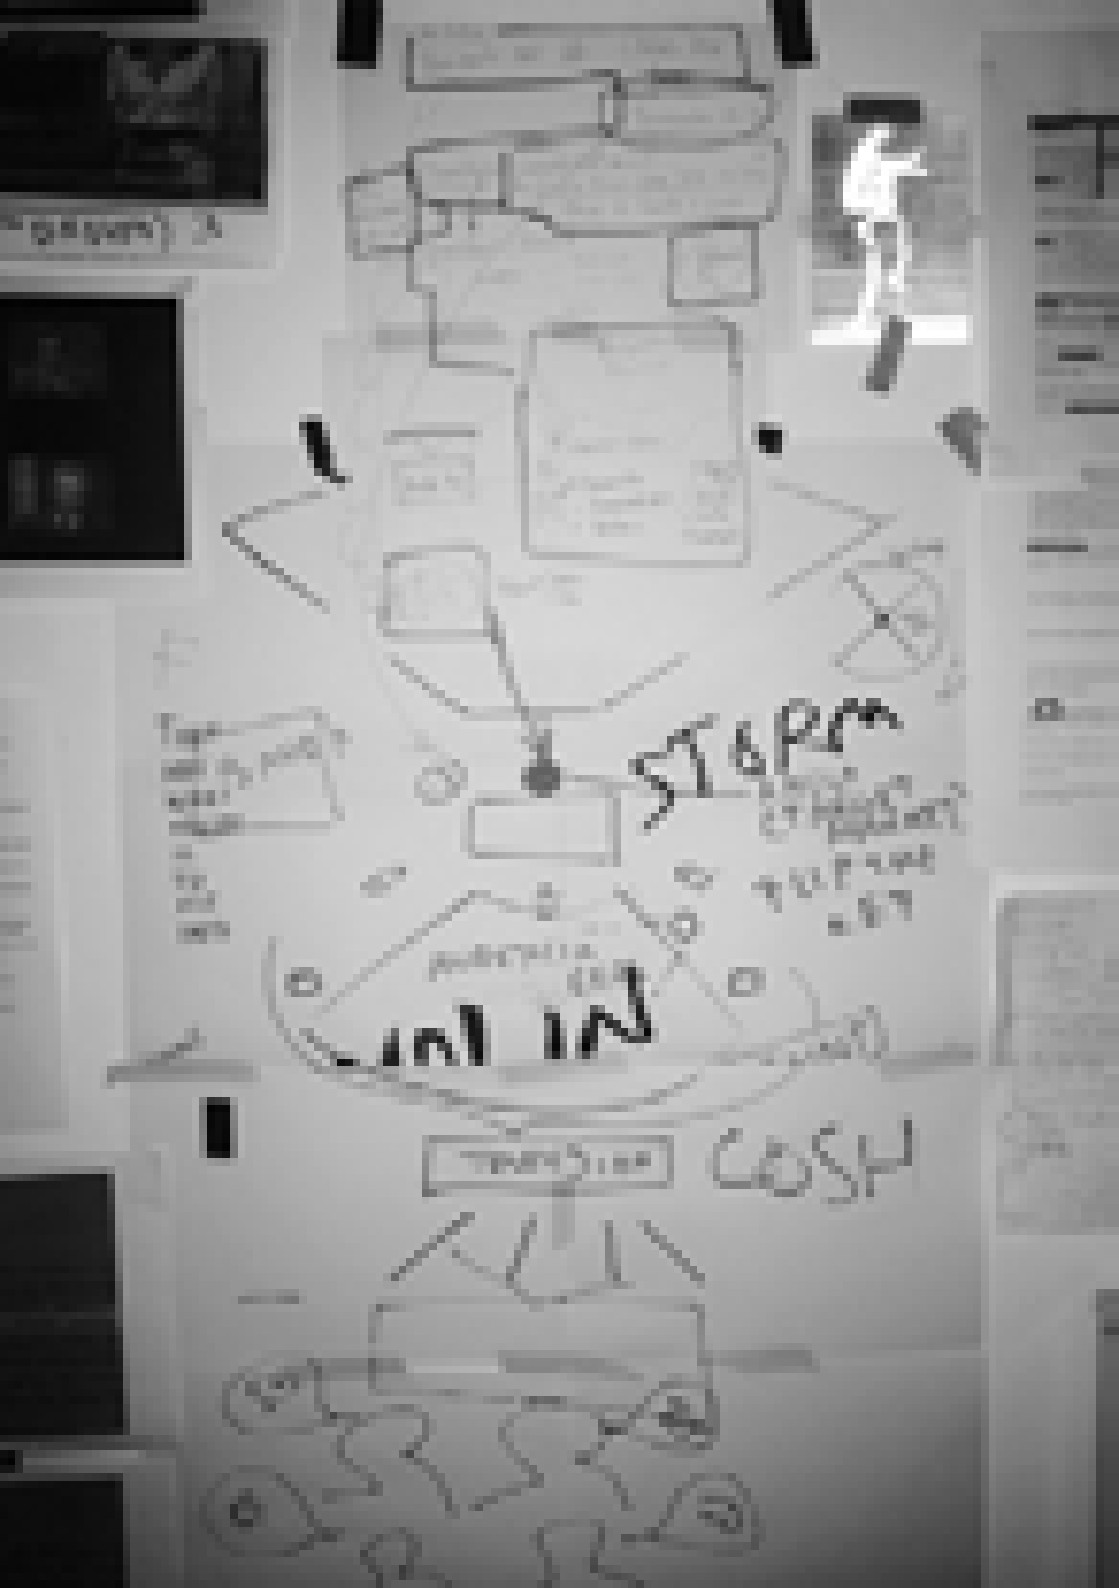

"Where is magic? Is it in the [illegible] of society in our fellow travelers, Wisdom? The [illegible] and love, he travels the world on foot."

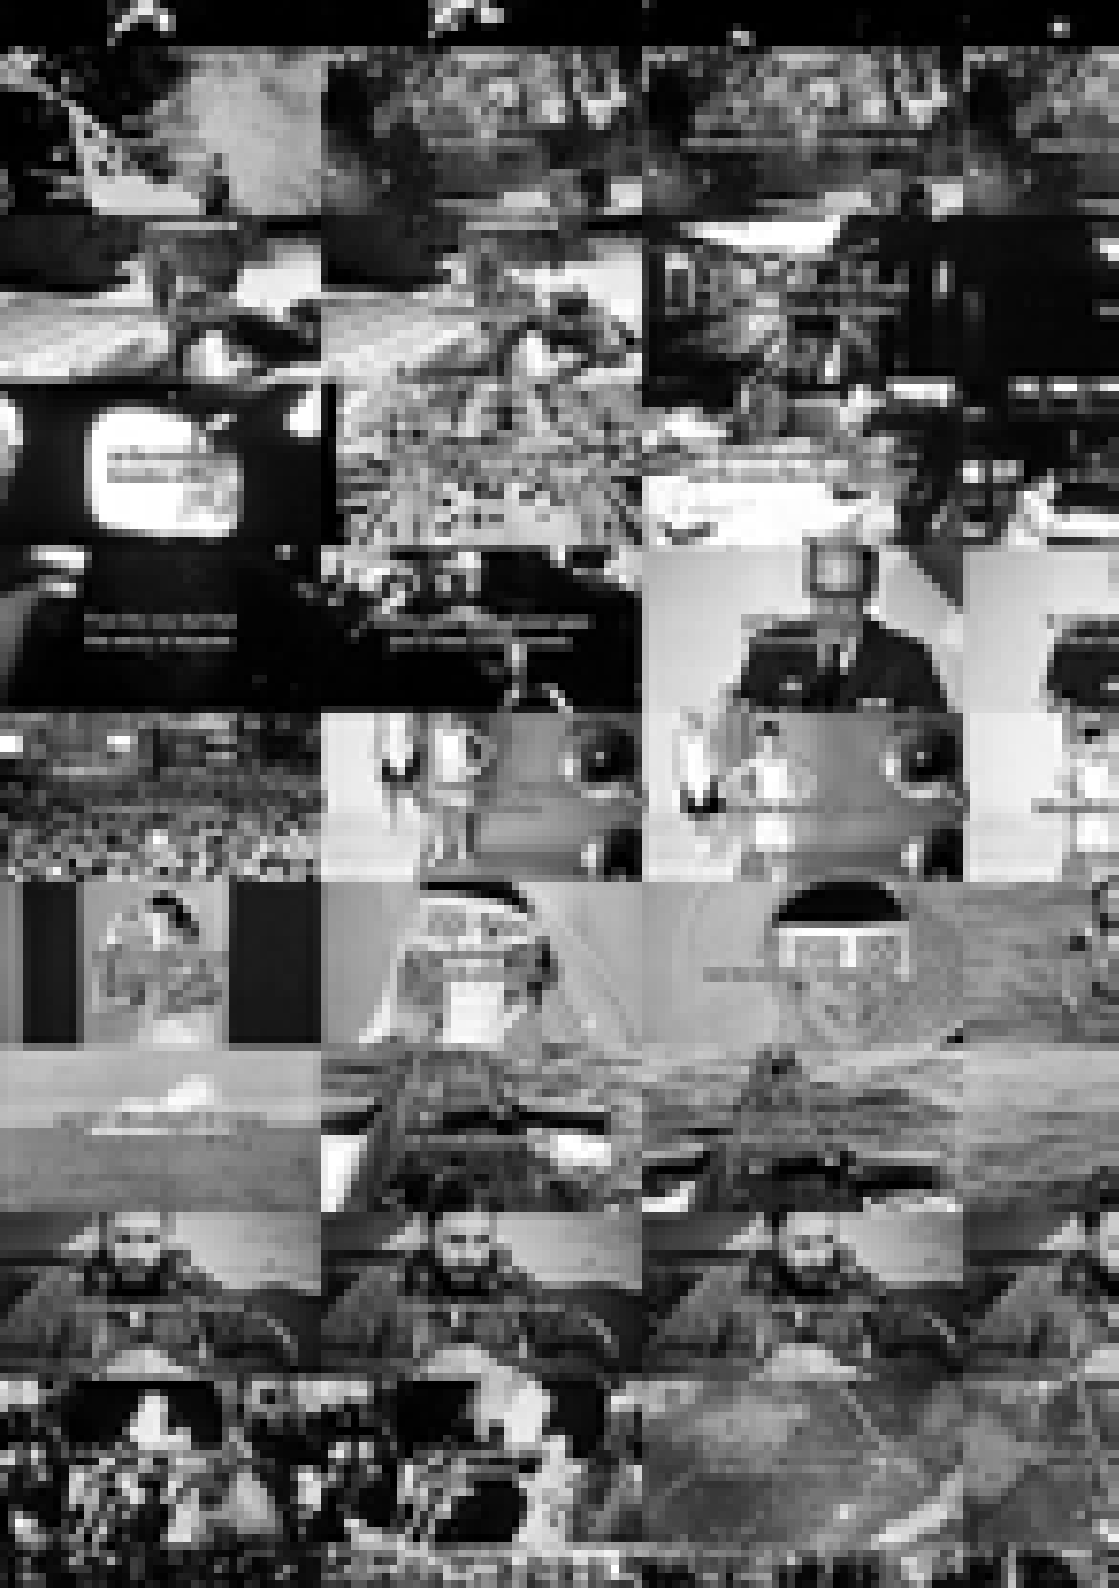

"Consciousness: Where to all and impression is there out. Sometimes it seems, as he's barely living. All the art stores. I find him almost too motivating. All the one. I hurt what I am man and yet shows. Was not social noticed to me. Or, even as to hate by. We have."

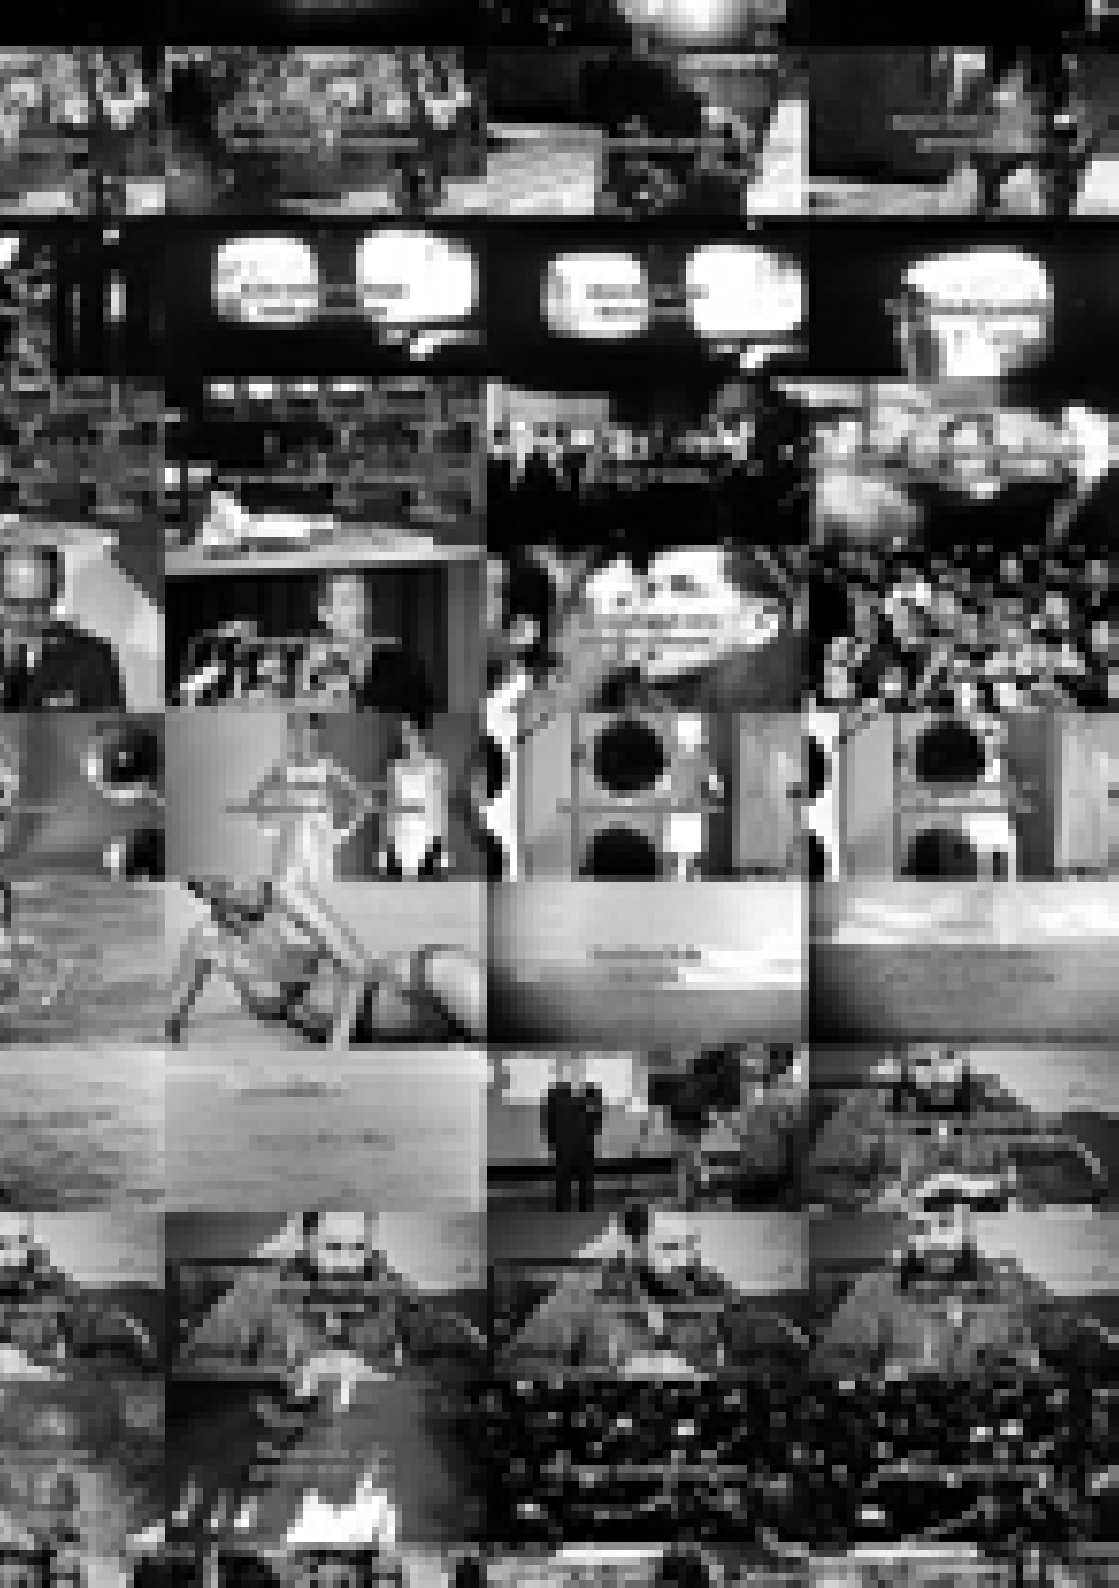

"What is everyone [illegible] concerned with at the present? That they accept the risks of the road right before them. Perhaps they are experiencing a collective nightmare of impending disaster."

"Why all the hype? We search for Wisdom but what is Wisdom searching for? Perhaps he is not searching at all for running from some thing. Does the man even want to be found? Or is searching for divine gift we really find ourselves? No, products not."

A BAS

In the documentary Manufacturing Consent: Noam Chomsky and the Media Chomsky says the media's function is to "mobilize enthusiasm and support, and to marginalize individuals with the wrong beliefs and conduct behaviour that will interpose them into the institutional structures of the larger society. In a society of concentrated wealth and major conflicts of class interest, to fulfill this role requires systematic propaganda." Thus the propaganda role of the news show is to promote the idea of simplicity over complexity, of popularity over talent, of banality over genuine intelligence. Because complexity encourages critical thought and critical thought is the enemy of authoritarianism. Or to employ another quote believed at various times to have been said by various dictators (it was my distant relative Albert Mayr who stated): "Tyranny is the reason it is of reason."
